

Griffith College Cork

LL.M. in International Law
LL.M. in International Human Rights Law

Griffith College Cork is recruiting a Part-time Lecturer in: Public International Law

Griffith College Cork law faculty is seeking additional lecturers for the above series of LL.M. degree programmes.

Successful candidates will have teaching experience and evidence of a strong research record in the areas of international law, human rights law and/or commercial law. We encourage the development of teaching at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels and all members of the Department's academic staff are expected to be able to contribute to core undergraduate teaching.

Applications are invited from individuals who have produced, or have the ability to produce, excellent research, to sustain a high quality research profile, and to contribute creatively and enthusiastically to the development and delivery of a strong, critical, research-led legal curriculum at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Ideally, successful candidates should have a good publications record and have completed or be very near to completion of a PhD (or have equivalent experience).

The appointment will commence on 1 September 2010 or as soon as possible thereafter. For further information on Griffith College Cork Law School see www.gcc.ie/law

For informal enquiries, please contact Grace Cunningham, Law School, Griffith College Cork, 021/4507027/ grace.cunningham@gcc.ie

Please send C.V and cover letter to law@gcc.ie

The closing date for the receipt of applications is Friday 27th of August.

We value diversity and wish to promote equality at all levels.